

The Real Rider Cup

JACK FISHER

Multiple graded stakes winning steeplechase trainer and former jockey Jack Fisher has conditioned the winners of over 3,300 races with earnings in excess of $16.1 million. Among his charges were and are some of the best in the sport: Saluter, Good Night Shirt, Bubble Economy, Scorpiancer and Mr. Hot Stuff, to name just a few.

Jack (no pun intended) jumped at the chance to participate in the Real Rider Cup. "It's a great cause and something everyone's doing. I won't be so serious about winning it. I can do some smack talk though."

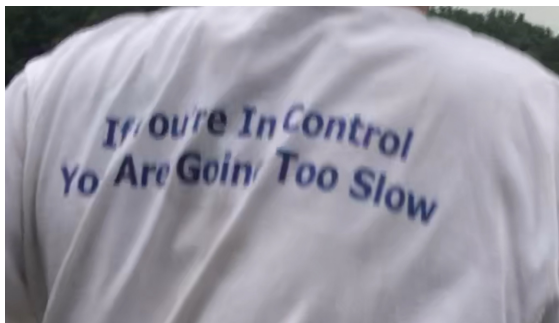

A recent party guest at Fisher's home asked if he could get on a horse for an impromptu spin around the field.

"So we lead the horse back in and I tell him to just hop on," Jack said. "With that he takes off his clothes – I mean ALL his clothes. So I said to him 'For $10,000, I'll do that in this Real Rider Cup.' Now I've had other people tell me they'll give me $10,000 if I don't."

His mount is another of his former trainees, Quite A Journey, now owned by Rachael Lively. Jack - who WILL be properly attired for the event - will wear the familiar orange and brown silks of the gelding's former owner, Mrs. Gil Johnston.
